Advanced School of Construction

Derwentside College is proud to announce the launch of our Advanced School of Construction in collaboration with local employers.

Our Advanced School of Construction is the result of a unique partnership between Derwentside College and local construction companies. Learners who join this academy will benefit from meaningful employer support which will give them the best chance to progress into apprenticeships or employment in a variety of construction trades.

On this one year course you will study a recognised City and Guilds Construction qualification, which will include spending time in the College's construction workshops developing your practical skills.

Whilst on programme you will benefit from:

- Opportunities to visit employer sites and see what it really means to work in the construction sector
- Gaining inside knowledge of the construction industry from employer talks
- Receiving practical advice and guidance to help you secure an apprenticeship upon completion of the course
